

Clay Walker, Coming Back Again

i was breathing but lord i was barely alive findin' reasons for losin' the will to survive i pushed the heart far beyond what it could take sometimes somethings gotta break chorus:

now its all right
i think i see a light there up ahead yeah it's all right
i think i've finally risen from the dead
the fire inside of me was gone like the wind and now it's stirring from within its coming back again

down in the ashes of a life that i let bury me one hand pulled me under and another tried to set me free in the struggle i know i lost my way somehow i never lost my faith

chorus:

yeah it's all right
but now its stirring from within

sometimes you stumble over steps you never take sometimes you learn from your mistakes

Chorus:

yeah now it's all right

it's coming back again!!!
