

Clear Voyance, The Slowest Inovation

there's got to be something more to this, there's got to be something that I've missed because I can't count the bottles on the floor any more, all of the nights have come and gone...
I know this sounds so redundant to your ears but, I don't know where to go from here.

It's been to damn long since I've heard our song.
and I knew this all along well, that feelings died, just like me inside.

and it all feels so wrong

And all I ever wanted was for this to be just like it was before I never asked that much from you.

from you.