

Client, And Now

What brought us to this what brought us to life what brought us to the here and now this trouble in time
what brought us to this
what brought us to mind
what brought us to the here and now
this trouble in time

you know you're sick you play your power games i know you're not beyond the blame you know you lie and then deny you know you're throwing your love, our love away you know you're turning you turn your heart away you know you've fallen in love with deepest lies you know you're pushing you push your luck again you know you're twisted you twist the knife again you know i'll save my pain for darkest night we know there's nothing we know the past is gone i realise you're not the only one i'll take my time the future's bright.