Cliff Richard, Count Me Out

What kind of love is this that leaves me feeling cold You look right through me what see nobody knows You're in a world all by yourself - needing no one else Feeling so secure

You're on the road to nowhere, left your past behind What's to become of me, should feelings be denied Another time another place, would I be the same old face For you to have around

There's no way in, there's no way out I'm caught in the middle Why must you leave my heart in doubt We have a one way love that flows from me to you There's nothing more for me to lose

We're through with talking now we know that it's the end We've played our foolish games amd it's useless to pretend It seems like only yesterday, that love had come to stay How could we be so blind

There's no way in, there's no way out I'm caught in the middle Why must you leave my heart in doubt We have a one way love that flows from me to you There's nothing more for me to lose

I don't know where your heart is or what's inside your head If this is love you said it, if this is love forget it If this is love then count me out
