

Cliff Richard, Your Eyes Tell On You

Your eyes tell on you
Your eyes tell on you

Just lately, it seems
You're acting strange to me,
But now it's so plain, so very plain to see
I thought and I thought,
What was it I'd done wrong,
And then at once I knew,
Your love for me was gone
When you look at him, your eyes tell on you.

Well now you never, you never, looked at me,
With such a loving, longing plea,
I guess I've had my day now,
What more is there to say now?

Your eyes are the eyes
That told me I loved you,
And now they look at him,
With all the love I knew,
I gave you my heart,
And everything I had,
Now they look at him, Making me feel so bad
When you look at him, your eyes tell on you.

Well now you never, you never, looked at me,
With such a loving, longing plea,
I guess I've had my day now,
What more is there to say now?

Your eyes tell on you (3x to end.)
