

Clifford T. Ward, Everything Goes Out The Window

When you're young and in love
And the world's at your feet
And your girl thinks you're better lookin'
Than Valentino ever was.

You cannot go wrong
Just as long as she's there
And you'll see things her way
'Cause more than anythin' else you're gonna want her to stay.

And everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window.

And in no time at all
You're both using the same front door
And you cannot believe
Just how lucky you are to have a girl like this.

So be true to your love
And don't break her heart
'Cause if you do, like a bird in a cage
Let it escape it soon flies away.

And everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window.

INSTRUMENTAL

So be true to your love
And don't break her heart
'Cause if you do, like a bird in a cage
You let it escape it soon flies away.

And everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window
Everything goes out the window.
