

Clifford T. Ward, Still Not Free

I want you to know

That it's workin' out alright

I found a job and things are lookin' up

An' if you join me soon we can celebrate and

Put it all back as it used to be

But I take it that you're still not free.

I'm sure you can tell

That it's still the same old me

Just a dreamer in a low profile

With promises and half attempts to learn

And bring about what was meant to be

But I take it that you're still not free.

And still you hesitate

Don't leave it later than you have to

Don't make it complicated

Leave tonight an' I'll be waitin'.

I think I can see

That you've found a new life now

An' it's not includin' me

But if things go wrong an' you change your mind, well

You know I'm here where I'll always be

But I understand you're still not free.

INSTRUMENTAL

And still you hesitate

Don't leave it later than you have to

Don't make it complicated

Leave tonight an' I'll be waitin' .

I think I can see

That you've found a new life now

And it's not includin' me

But if things go wrong an' you change your mind, well

You know I'm here where I'll always be

But I understand you're still not free.
