

Clique Girlz, The Difference

[Destinee]

Within empty walls,
I've been talking to myself again
You don't hear a word
But bother to explain it when
You say that I should try
But I feel I'm half alive
the rest of me is somewhere else.

[Chorus]

I wish the world would just spin faster
You told my happy ever after.
You're looking at me,
You're waiting to see the difference,
The difference in me.
You keep telling me to grow up,
Why should I, it's never good enough
How can I be when you never
see the difference,
The difference in me.

[Paris]

I don't want a fight
Don't care whose right or wrong anymore.
I'm sick of all this pain
Can it be the way it was before
When I always made you smile
Seems it's been a while but now you're always out of reach

[Chorus]

The difference,
The difference in me.

[Ariel]

You say that I should try
But I feel that I'm half alive
And the rest of me is somewhere else

[Paris]

I wish the world would just spin faster
Get to my happy ever after.
You're looking at me,
You're waiting to see the difference,
The difference in me.
You keep telling me to grow up,
But why should I, it's never good enough
How could I be when you never
see the difference,
The difference in me.

I changed my hair
And I through my clothes
And you say that you see but you don't notice the difference,
The difference, the difference in me.
I am the same as I was before.
I'm not afraid to walk right out that door.

[Destinee]

See the difference, the difference in me.
