

Close To Home, Changes

These miles tear me away,
From the comfort and the home
That you've taken from me
And all that's left is broken memories

I'll tear this building down,
Don't try to stand in my way,
You're all alone,
and that's the price you pay.

I'm not afraid to let go.
She said that I told you so,
I've gotta break all these ties,
Before I die.

You're not the person I loved,
You're just an ignorant fake who would never become,
Someone who got the best of me.
I'll give you space,
That you never wanted.
You'll never hear from me again.

I'm not afraid to let go.
She said that I told you so,
I've gotta break all these ties,
Before I die.

You are something that I can live without,
And now you're out there alone.

I'm not afraid to let go.
She said that I told you so,
I've gotta break all these ties,
Before I die.
