

Code Orange, Mirror

take a look in the mirror are you bored?
is it everything and more than you ever hoped for?
'cause it ain't fair (so unfair) and nobodys' ever gonna care they just wanna hear you talk for a story
for the moment

are you happy now?
will you ever be?
is it enough now?
'cause you know it'll never be

i swear I saw it all
but I'm not sure
that i found anything i want
i saw it all
and i'm not sure
that i found anything but what i never saw a final sin

it feels so clear in the reflection this could be what ends it all if you believe thats what we are 'cause were all the same spreading blame but covered in shame the finger that points to what they lack is the same one pointing back

are you happy now?
will you ever be?
is it enough now?

but I'm not sure

"inside this factory of endless doing who can really spot the difference between the illusory world and self re-affirmed sensation"
