Coffin Shakers, From Here To Hell

From here to Hell, all alone, I have wandered From here to Hell, and back, in all those years From here to Hell I have seen all the pain in the world I have been lost and can't be found I hear a painful howl in the distance I hear it's yet another of my kind Or is it just yet another echo of my fate The Devil laughing in my face?

Alone I shall forever be Out in these eternal winds Alone in this twilight where Serenity ends and death begins

Open my coffin, you'll see who I am Open it, but you won't live long to tell From here to Hell I am forever to be free A freedoom that's only meant for me
