

COIN, Are We Alone?

You're disconnected
Staring down at your phone
Some company you are

Across the table
In that phantom glow
How did you get so far?

Break my back just to make conversation
Pulling teeth just to ask how your day was
You're disconnected
And you consider a mess you got me onto yourself

But are we alone?
Your eyes are staring vacantly
Oh are you even listening at all?
There's no one here but you and me so tell me
Would you rather be alone?
Would you rather be alone?

I see you hiding
Behind the flickering screen
What did you come here for?
And then you lie up
Who's keeping you company
Don't wanna dance in the dark

Break my back just to get your attention
Pulling teeth, formidable fashion
Why're you hiding?
An inconsiderate mess you got me onto yourself

But are we alone?
Your eyes are staring vacantly
Oh are you even listening at all?
There's no one here but you and me so tell me
Would you rather be alone?
Would you rather be alone?
Would you rather be alone?

Don't lie to me darling

Would you rather be alone?

It's a screen it's a life it's you it's me is it?