Cold, Same Drug

I bet you'd never come down
From your tower for me
I'll let you take it real slow
While I try to decide
Never would've loved you
Should've left this town
Never would've loved you
But everything got turned around

It's nothing much but the same drug It's nothing much but the same drug Everyday It's nothing much but the same drug You threw it away But I gave love away

She didn't come from the same world See the same things, I can't deny I bled on stages to get here, sent screams Up to the sky

Never would've loved you Should've left this town Never would've loved you But everything got turned around

It's nothing much but the same drug It's nothing much but the same drug Everyday It's nothing much but the same drug You threw it away But I gave love away

She did it all the way Now she's gone today I can't sleep without her
