

Cold, Strip Her Down

Everybody played a game
How come you won't tell me the rules
I'm tired of tryin on a new skin
I never listen; I'm a fool
And everybody ran away
How come you won't tell me where
I guess I treated them too wrong
Now the sun won't shine on me
Now the rain won't even fall

Could of stripped her down
And made the world a mess for her
Never thought she could be this way
Could of stripped her down
And fucked the world all up for her
Never thought she could be this way
Could've stripped her down

Now that the love has gone away
2 blind to see my way to live
I waste away from all the pain, for you I'd kill myself
Again
I hope you get to play your games, I hope you
Get to see your friends
I hope the guilt mixes the pain, I hope you
Never love again

Strip
