

Colin Hay, I'm Doing Fine

Well, hello
you'll have to excuse me I just turned out the light I was dreaming you're the last person I'd expected to be here When I came home there was a message on the phone it said to come over but it was too late, so I left you alone and yes, I'm doing fine and thanks for asking it's been a long time

you know time keeps passing you said that you called me to hear the sound of my voice at least I still got something that works on you you know you make me crazy when you speak so lazy so what is it that you want you have my ear

And you, you can be cruel why did you call me I am no fool you sound so lonely how's your new boy Does he take you dancing?
I can believe his name is Roy Can this be love you found?
And don't ask me what happened cuz I still don't know one minute we were laughing and then you walked out the door well.. sometimes I'm up and sometimes I'm falling down lately my luck has been dragging on the ground oh but I'm doing fine, and thanks for asking

it's been a long time
you know time keeps passing