

Collapsis, Tell Me Everything

We always said that we would listen
And never hide what's on our minds
But tonight it feels like something's missing
Is there a ghost, that hides
In the world behind your eyes
What's raging
In you tonight

It's hard to tell, you're out of reach
I can't help you til you tell me everything
It's only words, and words don't bleed
They can hurt you if you hold them
And don't tell me everything

If the moon fell from your sky
Would I be the last to know
When your hopes and fears collide
Let me swim, inside
The ocean in your eyes
You can drown, your thoughts
In me tonight

It's hard to tell, you're out of reach
I can't help you til you tell me everything
It's only words, and words don't bleed
They can hurt you if you hold them
And don't tell me everything

So put your trust in me somehow
As you all come down now
You can't breathe, you can't see

It's only me, you're out of reach
I can't help you til you tell me everything
It's only words, and words don't bleed
They can hurt you if you hold them
And don't tell me everything

It's only words (It's only words)
It's only me (It's only me)
It's only words (It's only words)
Words don't bleed (It's only me)
It's only words (It's only words)
Words don't bleed (It's only me)
It's only words (It's only words)
And words don't bleed
