Collide, Inside

inside your head
i'd stroll around in synthesis and i'd find a way
to connect all things
to search and roam around
take you far away
to search and roam around
take you to another place inside your own illusion i stroll around the passages while i find a way
to connect all things
to search and roam around
take you far away
to search and roam around
take you to another place
so what i am dreaming of what about you
so saturate
tell me what can i find here when you vanish in the air i get caught in the rain that falls in your doorway chance is all you need whatever you see
you belong too
no wasting time
overlook
wrong decisions
or my confirmations
so that i can be