Commissioned, When Love Calls You Home

Waiting on the edge of your prodigle heart Wanting for someone to save you from yourself Out there on the edge dangling somewhere in the darkness Doubting if anybody really cares

But when Love reached through the shadows Whispering your name And nothing will ever be the same again

Chorus:

For when Love calls you home Forgiveness embrasses a past you once owned And all the mistakes that carried your name are gone Cos that's what happens when Love calls you home

Craddled in Your mercy that has no limit I've finally found a place where I belong Now I can't imagine one moment without you in it It's hard to believe I tried to make it on my own

But You picked me up from the ruins of my broken life And when every chance was spen You gave me one more try

Chorus
