

Common Rider, Castaways

Can you hear the call of a blood-seated song singing "battered old castaways why don't you come home?"

It's a long way back, but we're gonna go home
'cause there ain't nothing where we've been going
If the night chills to the bone
Gonna hold you through 'till dawn
It's a long way back, but we're gonna go home

Wanna take you back to our home town gonna kiss you in the tides of the power and the sound

[Chorus]
