

Compos Mentis, Downfall

Whirling through claustrophobic tunnels
Thrown from side to side, relentlessly
I'm surrounded by viscous walls
That reach out for me
I flee with broken wings
Through the darkness of eternity
Shadows of memories repressed long ago
Pierce my thready mind
A flight from myself
A flight in myself
I flee with broken wings
Through realms of forgotten nightmares
Raped by the deepest fractions of my mind
It leaves me bleeding
A flight from myself
A flight in myself
But the fear abates
As my hope fades away
Every feeling subsides
In line with the advance of nothingness