Connie Smith, I Can't Get Used To Being Lonely

I've got to get used to being lonely and get used to knowing darling that you're gone
But how can I prepare myself without you when I can't get used to being all alone
I've got to get used to being lonely and say this is the last day of being blue
But how can I look forward to tomorrow
When I can't get used to knowing I've lost you
For things to change I must have you to change them
Cause I'm not own I don't have fate in me
But loneliness is all I have without you cause I can't get used to being this lonely [steel]
For things to change...
