

Connie Smith, I'm Your Woman

When you just walk by me ever so casually oh how I long to be just your woman
Just a brush of your lips and my heart just jumps and skips
At your slight fingertips I'm your woman
And if you ever take me in your arms real tight
For a moment I'll feel wrong to be feeling so right
And if you ever kiss me a hungry goodnight I'll be too weak to fight I'm your woman

Like a rose in fullbloom sending out sweet perfume
I know you're in the room without looking
I've been wildly upset since the moment we met you won't let me forget I'm a woman
And if you ever take me...
