

Continuum, Emotion Recall

Just an other day without your love and I'll never be the same
Just an other sight without your face and I could forget your name

You cursed my wandering heart
With the charm of your spells
You played your game and from the start
You swindle my desire

No you'll never be a part of my life
Though you will always live inside of my dreams

You'll never be a part of me

Living a lonely life
While never being alone
We tend to forget the reasons why
There's a passion pit inside

She will never see
The scars you left on me
I will never let them show

Chorus

You'll never be a part of me

How could you believe
You would ever set me free
I should be hating you instead

Chorus
