

Continuum, Immortality

The Preconception

Through the misunderstood paths of love
They'll be together as only one
A part of him to grow in her blood
Will give them immortality

The learning Stage

As information grabbers, we collect experience
That will be useful later, in our meaningful existence
We go from pain to laughter using physical expressions
Then we can cross the border in the fields of comprehension

We're going through phases across the ages

A part of the cycle to be immortal
First real steps
Our last parts to improve, give unexpected pleasures
Our first quest on the lose: seek undiscovered treasures
The outside stops growing, then the inside starts ticking
We need to find the only one to share our life forever

We're going through phases across the ages

From our learning stages Till we build our cages
A part of the cycle to be immortal
The Postconception
Through the misunderstood paths of life
We'll be together as only one
A part of me to grow in your womb
Will give us immortality

Cage Building

So much preparation for a life time expedition
Facing a goal with no specific reason
Anthology
Closer to the end, we think we have the answer
If life would never end the dream would last forever
