

Converge, The Broken Vow

Those nights we had and the trust we lost
The sleep that fled me and the heart I lost
It all reminds me just how callous and heartless the true cowards are
And I write this for the loveless
And for the risks we take
I'll take my love to the grave
As tired and worn it is
I'll take my love to the grave