

Convey, View From Above

There's a key to a lock to a door,
To a room where skeletons dwell.
And the noise that you hear when you can't sleep at night is
The sound of them rapping on the bars of their cells.

There's no forest for the trees.
You see what you wanna see.
It gets you around, just don't let the skeletons out.

I wanna climb to the top of the highest peak,
Look down on a world of incubated deceit.
Oh, and fall away
From it all.
And fall away
From it all.

There's a key to a lock to a door
To a room where skeletons dwell.
And the noise that you hear when you can't sleep at night is
The sound of them rapping on the bars of their cells.

There's no forest for the trees.
You see what you wanna see.
It gets you around, just don't let the skeletons out.

I wanna climb to the top of the highest peak,
Look down on a world of incubated deceit.
Oh, and fall away
From it all.
And fall away
From it all.

Just when you think I've had enough,
I'll take the view from above.
Just when you think I've had enough,
I'll take the view from above.
Just when you think I've had enough,
I'll take the view from above.
Yeah.

Because I wanna climb to the top of the highest peak,
Look down on a world of incubated deceit.
Oh, and fall away
From it all.
And fall away
From it all.
