

Cool Hand Luke, Yesterday Is Gone yesterday, I said some things I really shouldn't say and I know you're watching every move I make i've turned around, but now i'm right back where i've started from another day, I make up for all my past mistakes I know there's going to be a price to pay as long as I know God is with me, everything is going to be okay the day starts to turn around I know I can forget my past with the help of loving grace I trust God to make sure everything's all right, now

I know you're hearing every word I say I never meant to hurt you in any way I know my actions hurt, but please allow me one more chance and today, I can't admit that there is nothing wrong. but I know i've dealt with this for far too long to tear me down i've turned around from where i've started from