Cradle of Filth, Prey

Nightfall, in thrall I call her beauty to me Whose ebon-lidded eyes excite Shadows to wander through me Whose kiss glittered with sleep Is a thief come after dark To steal away the leaden wreaths From my cemetery heart

[Special Edition version:]

Nightfall, in thrall I call her beauty to me Whose ebon-lidded eyes excite Shadows to wander through me Whose kiss glittered with sleep Is a thief come after dark To steal away the leaden wreaths From my cemetery heart

Thrilled to see the light Bruise-reddened, silhouetting Murder sites As dusk attends her sons' blood wedding Spilt across the skies In reefs of omen Licking flames and pagan rites The night awaits with baited thighs

Start this artist darkness

Yearning now to start this Burning as an artist Turning on the darkness Dizzy looking up with pervertigo A sewer deity of recrement World below

I'll make you pray

I spy with wicked lips The cream of mortal kind Committing their sins Their penitent skins To the harems of my mind

Prey

Thrilled to breathe tonight The sultry air of graces Passed in flight Like birds of May with playful faces Fills me with delight Their crystal skirts Spun from stars, worn tight Wink of fists in wishful places

Start this artist darkness

Yearning now to start this Burning as an artist Turning on the darkness Dizzy looking up with pervertigo A sewer deity of recrement

World below

I'll make you pray

My whims like smoke in summertime Writhe atop the blooms Committing their thin White Catholic limbs To the cloister in my room

You see I need To feed my dreams to order To be agreed With the beast in me That bleeds their borders

Prey

Nightfall, in thrall I call her beauty to me Whose ebon-lidded eyes excite Shadows to wander through me Whose kiss glittered with sleep Is a thief come after dark To steal away the leaden wreaths From my cemetery heart