

Crash Test Dummies, In The Days Of The Cavemen

When you go on camping trips you're stuck right out in nature foraging the forests like a primate using sharpened tools instead of hotplates your thumb and forefinger supposed to show you're not a wild beast you can hear the noises at night time they don't have to keep a certain bed time see in the shapes of my body leftover parts from the apes and monkeys sometimes when i lie awake i hear the rainfall on my tent fly i think of all the insects that are sleeping and wonder if the animals are dreaming in the days of the caveman and mammoths... and glaciers bugs and trees were your food then no pyjamas or doctors and when i finally get to sleep i dream in technicolor i see creatures come back from the ice age alive and being fed inside a zoo cage