

Crossbreed, Friendly Values

this time i feel empty, like you've sucked up all my insides this time i feel like my hope in faith will not revive my heart will never die, even when i see you cry for me i've seen your pain deep down inside your eyes tear drops create a mirror now my reflection is getting clearer into the truth that you will never buy cause you've shoveled up all my fucking lies stick it out
stick it out
see through all my lies all i need is just some more time picking up
picking up
this shit again
all i want is for you to stay away
all i want is for you to stay away all the problems that once was still remains internally keeping away is what's best that's why i whisper fearing me is not an option think about it, think about wasting your time was loving you ever a fucking crime now forget just forget this shit again all i want is for you to stay away