Crowded House, Into Temptation

You opened up your door I couldn't believe my luck You in your new blue dress Taking away my breath The cradle is soft and warm Couldn't do me no harm You're showing me how to give

Into temptation Knowing full well the earth will rebel Into temptation

In a muddle of nervous words
Could never amount to betrayal
The sentence is all my own
The price is to watch it fail
As I turn to go
You looked at me for half a second
An open invitation for me to go

Into temptation Knowing full well the earth will rebel Into temptation Safe in the wide open arms of hell

We can go sailing in Climb down Lose yourself when you linger long Into temptation Right where you belong

The guilty get no sleep
In the last slow hours of morning
Experience is cheap
I should've listened to the warning
But the cradle is soft and warm

Into temptation Knowing full well the earth will rebel Into your wide open arms No way to break the spell Don't tell
