

Crxshadows, Telemetry 6: Walk Away

In this fading image we'll carve our destiny sometimes life is a cruel friend sometimes that's what we need I'll hold my eyes when the light comes in I'll sell my silence for a song now I won't die if you walk away but I may not live
Now I watch as the rain comes down to purify this pain when mountains crumble and stars collide
I am what remains
There are lessons that sadness can only teach there are things that we must learn now I won't die if you walk away
but I may not live