

Cryhavoc, The Wind

A chilly October morning
And we lay side by side
For now I take last a look on you
Before I take a ride...

Night of magic, the night of desire,
passion from delight disappeared in dark.
And only moon could see how I leave

So leave your window open
I'll come with the first cold breeze
First sign of winter,
I'll be gone again with the winter wind...

...Let the wind blow through your hair...

You can't bound the wind,
Forever it has blown, and always will
You can't control me
'Cause my mind is flying free

Curtains are dancing
I appear to you,
Again begin the lustful night
With... me and you...

I left your window open
So close it or let it be...
First signs of winter
I'll be gone again with that winter wind

You can't bound the wind,
Forever it has blown, and always it will
With the wings of winter I ride
Between those legs spread so wide
You can't bound the wind,
Forever it has blown, and always it will
You can't control me
'Cause my mind is flying free... to leave

You can't bound me, like you can't bound the wind
My darling my body stays but mind is flying free...

Let the wind blow through your hair
Let it through you everywhere
