

Cryonic Temple, King Of Transylvania

(M: Cryonic Temple L: Axelsson)

As the sun is going down, on a dark and cloudy sky, you can see there's something coming your way A wagon led by horses, so black just like the night without a coachman and it's running on its own

He's back to take his throne again

So beware all my friends, lock up your doors tonight from this moment you shall never be alone Raise up all your hands, and hail the king tonight the King of Transylvania is coming home

The legend talks about him, the returning of the Lord a name that no one ever dares to say Rumours told he's dead, killed in ancient times but that's a fatal lie and you will know

He's watching all of us from his throne

(Repeat chorus)

(Leads - Both / Collin / Both / Ahonen)

(Repeat chorus)