

Crystal Bernard, To Dream Without You

I've got one eye on the roses
I've got the other on the road ahead of us
I've got two hands on this plow before me
I've got one heart and a head full of dreams

Oh but none could come true
Without you
Oh none could come true
Without you
I've been dreaming so long with you
That it would be wrong to dream without you

I know that my dreams sometimes scare you
When you're thinking if I win that you might lose
Oh but darling that's just not true
My independence is a gift that I share with you

The changes are shaking us up a bit - oh yeah
The changes are making us sit up straight
Oh, the changes are waking us up to the fact
That the best part of the dreams are the changes they bring
That only proves that...