

Culpepers Orchard, Hey You People

Hey you people

We've looked across a thousand seas, Our hair was winding in the stray

And as the currents closed our minds, waves were rolling in our bay

Hey you people

We've looked into a thousand suns, And bent the rays upon our eyes

And as they've kissed our golden lips, Love was scrolled across the skies