

Culture Club, More Than Silence

Watching you play our favourite song
Shutters down, headphones on
I want the world to know my pain
You play a cold game

Wounded soul, bi-polar tears
Whisper your name so no-one hears
I'll be the mirror of all your fears
I'll play a slow game

I could use a little more than silence
Just three words that echo in my heart
I could use a little more than silence
Silence is the moon in a lonely sky

Wondering who you're gonna be
Fall into her or into me
I want the world to know your name
You play a cold game

Wounded soul, bi-polar tears
I whisper your name so no-one hears
You let me mirror all your fears
I'll play a slow game

I could use a little more than silence
Just three words that echo in my heart
I could use a little more than silence
Silence is the moon in a lonely sky

Don't talk, don't try
Don't try, don't lie
Don't lie

I could use a little more than silence
Just three words that echo in my heart
I could use a little more than silence
Silence is the moon in a lonely sky