

Culture Kultur, Promised Land Blues pulsing in the lines a better world is arising floating in the stream our future is being transported nothing can stop this universal way of living but where are the souls of millions dead in hunger don't look to the other side

don't see, can't see
future is a place to live
you see, can see
mankind is not free
don't see, can't see
future is a place to live
you see, can see
mankind is not free

please dont' tell me lies of clean and bright tomorrows listen to the news, something big is going to happen closing the frontiers is our last solution and when they want to fight we call it holy war

don't look to the other side