

D:a:d, Prayin' To A God

Yeah, I know I'm in trouble
A case of the unkindest kind
But I resent being reminded
About what's already on my mind
When hope beats high
And I wake up with a sleepy grin
The dream I fell asleep to
Just blew up; I know I never win..
I'm prayin' to a God who always says..
I'm prayin' to a God who always says: No!
I'm down on my knees for crying out low..
I'm prayin' to a God that always says: No!!
The light at the end of the tunnel
Is nothing but the burglar alarm
Praying to a God that always says
I'm prayin' to a God that always says: No!

As if each drop of rain is tryin' to get at me
Yeah, the joke's over
And it feels as though my heart's empty
And I can't sleep from hearing
All the things I never said..
Because the dream I fell asleep to;
Is just a cloud above my head
I'm prayin' to a God who always says..
I'm prayin' to a God who always says: No!
I'm down on my knees for crying out low..
The light at the end of the tunnel
Is nothing but the burglar alarm
Praying to a God that always says
- I'm prayin' to a God that always says: No!

Yeah, I know, like a shadow when the sun is gone
And it seems the things I wait for never comes
I need someone to believe in me
Yeah, I need someone to throw blue sky at me
Praying to a God who always says
I'm prayin' to a God who always says: No!
Praying to a God who always says
Praying to a God that always says
I'm prayin' to a God who always says: No!!
Praying to a God who always says
Yeah, to a God that always says: No!
Yeah, I'm down on my knees for crying out low
I'm prayin' to a God that always says: No!!
The light at the end of the tunnel
Is nothing but the burglar alarm..
The God who always says: No!
To the God who always says: No!!
To the God who always says: No!!..