D'Sound, Later By Fra Lippo Lippi

FRA LIPPO LIPPI Later

How could you come with me When you knew all along that you had to go

How could you watch me sleep So close to you Pretending not to know

How could you memorize my name And forget who i am

How could you think You're still the same Believing i can

It's too late to start pretending It's too late for a new beginning Later than the sunset Later that the rain Later than never to love you again

How could you ask for more With an innocent smile Trusting me to stay

How could you close the door And leave me here Supposing I'm ok

How could you break down My disguise And uncover my fears

How could you look into my eyes Ignoring my tears

It's too late to start pretending It's too late for a new beginning Later that the sunset Later than the rain Later than never to love you again [x2]

Its too late