

D'Sound, Pray To Fall Asleep

I wonder where you sleep tonight.
Somewhere you are laying your head on cold stones.
You fell so fast, went so far.
I didn't know, I couldn't see it coming.
You might have lost yourself in thoughts.
No faith to help you grasp the universe,
but once you have accepted it
you will find that life is ok.
I pray to fall asleep with the angels above at nights like these whithin my dreams are so cold.
And I wanna know that you're just fine,
though it is not so.
And I pray to fall asleep
so sound...
I've called your folks, I've called your friends.
Nobody dares to love you anylonger.
You've torn them up too many times
and I can see the warning-sign.
