

D'Sound, Thunder & Rain

turn the phone off I've switched the moon on and the wind in the trees is singing our song

can you forgive me
for grief I've caused you?
I was so much in pain
- I didn't mean to and I need to explain that the thunder & rain fill my heart can we just be here and rearrange things

so, that when it gets day, you can just leave me

leave without the anger and without the chainmarks and relieve me from guilt that made my sky dark and I need to explain that the thunder and rain fill my heart

I found a weak spot
I couldn't make out
and a face in my dreams I couldn't chase out

but now I am at zero
and I can see straight I will listen to you
without no debate

and then you can explain how the thunder and rain fill your heart
