Damned, History Of The World Part 1

I just hit the ground boy have I arrived Tell the dinosaurs they just won't survive So I fell and you just laughed You think that I can't stand To see me trip this way You think I'm second hand

I have seen it all she's the only one She belongs to me I'm the lonely one Counting sheep and swatting flies You think there's no more left Talk is cheap how many lies Sustain a single breath

Adam Chance and Zorro
Take them with a pinch of salt
Sad about tommorrow
Sorry but it's not my fault
While they were shooting at the moon
Somebody croaked and no one heard
But what's a sin or two
In the history of the world

Someone said to me why'd you play so loud? What do you want from me You corrupt the crowd Miles of print you'd think We thought of nothing else There's more important things Thank ink and decibels

Leave it to tommorrow
Corporal Clot and Stalingrad
There the ones to follow
There the ones that make me glad
No one alive and no one left
Nobody cares or ain't you heard
Looks like I'll take my dying breath
In the history of the world
