

Damone, When You Live

All the lost kisses
And runaway tears
Can't fix what your good mom and dad
Have been saving in pictures
For all of these years
And it's sad
Everything fades to black, yeah

All your cellophane friends
Play their monologue games
And mock everything that I am
But I don't let it faze me
'Cause they're all the same
Don't be one of them

'Cause the lights
Will go down on your show
And as the scenes roll by
There's something I wanted to say to you

When you live
Live with your soul
Not with your time
When you love
Love with your heart
Not with your mind
If you wanna be something
The world can't define
Open up your eyes

Accidents happen
And confidence fails
But that's not what I'm trying to say
There's this look in your eyes
That's been killing me here
For days

So as the night drags on
There's this I've been meaning to say to you

When you live
Live with your soul
Not with your time
When you love
Love with your heart
Not with your mind
If you wanna be something
The world can't define
Open up your eyes

You can't fake it here
You can't fake it here
You can try all you want
But you'll break it here
You can laugh it off
Tell your friends I'm soft
You can cry, you can scream
But I'll brush it off
You're not listening
You're not listening
To anything I'm trying to say

When you live
Live with your soul

Not with your time
Love with your heart
The world can't define
Open up your eyes

When you live
Live with your soul
Not with your time
When you love
Love with your heart
Not with your mind
When you wanna be something
The world can't define
Open up your eyes
You can't fake it here
Open up your eyes

Open up your eyes
