

Dan Hill, I Love You Now

There's not a thing about you that I'd change
You're the fire inside my heart always
Sometimes it's hard for me to open up
Sometimes I feel like I'm not good enough

I remember when I first saw you
Couldn't believe that God could make someone, so beautiful
That was long ago and far away
You may wonder if my feelings ever change

Girl, I love you now
More than words can ever say
How I love you?
Just let me count the ways
You're the fire, you're the passion
You're the best that could happen
You should know after all