

Dana, Agents In Love

He loves the way of her name on his lips and she loves the sound of his sweet , gentil kiss the way that his fingers runs true her hair and how she send lingers even were she's not there and he loves the way her eyes glance when she laugh ans how he comforts when even she's upsaid and how she convences him to dance in the rain with everyone watchine like they were insane they are two agents in love they don't know , they don't care but while their together, the love keeps burning on...

they have something special, that nobody haves
they just need to know their friendship is real..

for Mulder and Scully.