

Dana Glover, The Way (The Radio)

Well I guess it's just the way it's got to be
I can't expect the whole world to stop turning just to listen to me
Besides everybody thinks that a woman has got something to say
It's the way it's been it's always been the way

It's a really fine feeling when I'm dreaming of a rainy day
Cause I can hear the words I just can't feel the soul
Said the tides aren't turning but nothing ever seems to change
When I turn the dial the grief still feels the same

Well I guess it's just the way it's got to be
Whose to say I'm the only one living in reality
But there's a melody I'm singing keeps me feeling like a never belong
I'll just sit right here and think all the way

Is anybody feeling what I'm feeling on the radio
Cause I can hear the words but I can't feel the soul
Said the tides aren't turning but nothing ever seems to change
When I turn the dial the groove still feels the same

Well I guess it's just the way, that things will have to be yea

Well what if I could just live in that wonderland
Stevie touches my heart with his hands
Aretha sings about a do right man all night long just for me
That would be the way that it would be

My my my my my my...

Is anybody feeling what I'm feeling what I'm feeling what I'm feeling on the radio
Is anybody feeling what I'm feeling what I'm feeling what I'm feeling on the radio

James Brown, Al Green, anybody know what I mean
My my woo woo
Shaka Kahn, I feel for you

Is anybody feeling what I'm feeling what I'm feeling what I'm feeling on the radio
Is anybody feeling what I'm feeling what I'm feeling what I'm feeling on the radio

My my my my my my...
