

Daniel Bloom, Lovely Fear (feat. Iwona Skwarek)

I see keeping your heart maligned
We what you say and what you do
Is getting harder each time
You bend the truth
And it's difficult to define
The point of no return
When the benefit of a doubt will get you damned

I'm giving it up now
What does it feel like
Cutting it open but never bleeding
I'm giving it up now
I'm tired of spinning
Figuring what was real
And I'm giving it up now
What does it feel like
Cutting it open but never bleeding
I'm giving it up now
I'm tired of spinning
Figuring what was real

Now I may have been willfully blind in prideful charity
Show you'd do it to everyone, but not to me
And when love is in short supply
You turn and turn again
But the breadcrumb trail behind
Is going round and round and round

I'm giving it up now
What does it feel like
Cutting it open but never bleeding
I'm giving it up now
I'm tired of spinning
Figuring what was real
And you're crossing the line now
What does it feel like
Cutting it open but never bleeding
I'm giving it up now
I'm tired of spinning
I believed in you
I believed in you
I believed in you
I believed in you

I'm giving it up now
What does it feel like
Cutting it open but never bleeding
I'm giving you