

Daniel Powter, Give Me Life

Right directions, I've problem with your friends understand my point of view and I'm not bothered I break before I bend Give me life, give me life, for what I do.

I can't remember and everything the same and what you think that I should be you pushed me backwards, I played the stupid game Give me life, give me life, for what I say.

And the moment that you lose yourself
you wish that you were someone else and the only thing that comes apart to take respond from where we start.

'Cause I got no excuses for the way I talk to you but you don't compromise you nothing new let's get together and see what we've become Give me life, give me life, for what I've done.

What's the answers, I fall between the cracks I'll be happy when you sink
I was promised if you're through with us Give me life, give my life, for what I think.

And the moment that you lose yourself
you wished that you were someone else and whatever else is going on, everyone will know once you're halfway gone.

You got no excuses for the way you treated me
And I don't compromise to easily let's stay together to see what we've become
Give me life, give me life, for what I've done.

Give me life, give me life, for what I've done.
Give me life, give me life, for what I've done.
