

Darren Hayes, Consequences In Life

We could talk it over
Find a way together
Instead of fight it over
We could make it right
Through our laughter and smile
We hate each others lies
Why continue?
Why not move on?
Is life a tragedy you have to overcome?
Should we start it over?
And give it a chance
To justify what went wrong
Or should we terminate it right over
And meet the consequences in our life
Depression and disappointment
Makes life, more and more absurd
And the words that you said
Only branded you a liar
Through our laughter and smile
We hate each others lies
Why continue?
Why not move on?
Is life a tragedy you have to overcome?
Should we start it over?
And give it a chance
To justify what went wrong
Or should we terminate it right over
And meet the consequences in our life
If you make a choice
Between life in a battle
Or life in a tough survival
Would you accept the result
Of the decision
Instead of fight it over
You could make it right
Should we start it over?
And give it a chance
To justify what went wrong
Or should we terminate it right over
And meet the consequences in our life